24 Arrested During Police Crackdown - Guns, Ammo, Narcotics Seized

Police exercises have led to the arrest of 24 people who are now assisting in active investigations.

Over the weekend, police seized guns, narcotics and ammunition.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (Ag.), Intelligence and Investigations, Curt Simon said these results are accredited to the extensive and painstaking efforts of the men and women of the Trinidad and Tobago Police Service (TTPS).

DCP (Ag.) Simon reiterated that intelligence-led operations will continue through Operation Blue Line exercises to reverse the tide of criminal activities.

He said, “We have taken note of the violence brought about by a fight for drug turfs and feuding gangs. Whilst our investigating and intelligence machinery is very much operable, a key component of our response, is designed to maintain safety and security amongst the public. I wish to take this opportunity to assure Trinidad and Tobago that your TTPS remains resolute as it relates to our mandate of making every place safe. We continue to ask the public to be vigilant and to continue partnering with your TTPS.”

The success of the three-day operation is a direct response to Operation Blue Line which is an ongoing initiative of the Trinidad and Tobago Police Service (TTPS), introduced by the Commissioner of Police, Erla Harewood-Christopher. This strategy utilises intelligence-led and anti-gang operations to dismantle criminal networks throughout all 10 Policing Divisions.
